33 PERCENT INCREASE IN UNION HIGH REGISTRATION TOTAL OF 1331 STUDENTS

Last Year's Total Enrollment Is Exceeded as Anticipated by the Board of Trustees who Prepare for Added Work During Coming Year

NEW SPANISH TEACHER IS ADDED TO STAFF

Night School to Open for Enrollment on September 25; Plans for Entering to Be Announced Next Week

The meeting on Tuesday evening of the board of high school trustees, the first since the school opened for the fall term, was of unusual interest, the item of special concern being the report by Principal George U. Moyse of an enrollment of 1331 against 1016 last year, or an increase of nearly 33 per cent.

The board duly elected new teachers whom Principal Moyse had been instructed to secure to fill vacancies in the staff which had developed within the past few weeks. These included:

Miss Mabel Odell, graduate of the University of Arizona, and a teach of high reputation for work in Spanish.

Mrs. Edith W. Bailey, with the degree of Ph.D. from the University of Michigan and who has been associated with the U. of C. as its director of extension work in San Diego, was elected for French.

Miss Florence Carpenter, graduate of Cornell, who took Latin for four years under Dr. Bennett, who is the author of some of the best Latin text books in use in the United States, was elected for Latin and French, as she came to the school very highly recommended as an instructor.

Hubert S. White of Burbank, who taught music in the Burbank high school last year and has been re-engaged this year, has made arrangements to handle the band work here from 3:15 to 4:15 each afternoon, and was duly elected.

As Miss Hardy, who underwent a surgical operation recently, will not be well enough to return to school for a few weeks, Mrs. Van Lee Hood of Eagle Rock was elected as a substitute to take her work in English for one month.

The board voted to open the night school under Principal A. L. Ferguson for registration September 25, and next week the plan of registration will be announced. The general policy of the school as determined by the board was that it will offer the same subjects as were offered last year, and new classes will be created as far as possible to take care of demands for new subjects wherever it is possible to secure teachers for such subjects. It was agreed that classes of 25 were desirable and that any class falling below an attendance of 10 should be dropped.

Mr. Ferguson submitted statistics showing a total enrollment last year of 667, in which the gymnasium classes, about equally divided between men and women, led with an enrollment of 216. Other high enrollments were: Spanish, 90; typing, 68; millinery, 59; English, 58, and bookkeeping, 50.

Principal Moyse reported that the figures for the new assessed valuation of the district had been made public and it would now be possible to call a bond issue based on this valuation.

The county counsel's office now has the papers in charge, he said, and is drawing up the call for the election, which will probably be received within a few days and the date can then be made known.

The house committee was delegated to arrange for the exchange of one of the school pianos for a better instrument for the use of the piano department, and report to the board, and also to select a few instruments needed by the band.

In connection with the enrollment figures, Principal Moyse reported he had been obliged to put classes in every available room throughout the day from 7:45 to 4:15; that under the system adopted the enrollment of the classes had been quite equal, and that practically all the classes were not only full but had exceeded the maximum of efficient work for the welfare of students.

"There will be difficulty," he said, "about starting other classes because there are no rooms in which to place them. The only classes open to enrollment are those which come at the end of the day, and this will make it difficult for students entering late to arrange their programs. The problem is serious, not only for students but for teachers, who have no place they can call their own and no place for conferences with students."

BURGLARS LOOT WENDE HOME OF JEWELRY

Enter With Master Key and Rob One Room of House

Taking his choice of the jewelry in only one bedroom, a thief entered the home of G. H. Wende on Glorietta avenue, between Verdugo road and Elden lane, between 7 and 8 Monday night, while all of the family were away.

It is thought that the thief entered by the front door, using a master key. Mr. and Mrs. Wende left the house about 6:30, returning at 8 o'clock, while Mrs. Wende's son, Baird Roundtree, was also absent during the evening. The robbery was not discovered until Tuesday morning, for Mrs. Wende was ill on Monday and went directly to bed.

The housebreaker made away with two diamond rings, an opal dinner ring of very unique pattern, which had been specially made for Mrs. Wende, another ring set with a semi-precious stone from Mr. Wende's Arizona mine, a stickpin with a stone of the same kind, a wedding ring, three watches, two of which were valued because they were heirlooms, an amethyst stickpin, and a gold nugget bar pin.

Mrs. Wende's room appeared to be the only one entered by the intruder, for jewelry in other rooms was untouched. Strangely, also, a gold bracelet and gold chain were left in the jewel box which was rifled. The dresser drawers appeared to have been searched, but nothing else was missing.

The matter has been reported to the Glendale police, who are investigating the case.

SEYMOUR THOMAS' BACK FROM EAST

Famous Artist Paints Portraits of Financiers in New York

Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Thomas, of "Cuddle Doon," La Crescenta, have just returned after nearly five months' absence in New York city, where Mr. Thomas painted three portraits, one of Dr. Norman Bridge of Los Angeles, and two of prominent Wall street men, of New York; that of Mr. Darwin P. Kingsley, president of the New York Life, to be placed in the chamber of commerce, and that of Mr. James Mabon, ex-president of the stock exchange, the latter to be placed in the New York stock exchange. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas are delighted to return to California and think there is no place in the world like it.

HE GOT IT

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—General Emil Taufflieb, Alsatian, who served with France during the war, defined prohibition as a "word Americans smile when they use." He just returned from a tour of the country and said he "never drank more in his life."

Doesn't it sound good to you?

BOULEVARD FOLKS CALL MEETING

The San Fernando Boulevard Improvement association is meeting tonight in the office of Wm. Griffin, 806 South San Fernando road. The special theme of the meeting will be the electrification of the railroad line on Glendale avenue, which is felt to be of paramount importance in affording additional transportation for the city.

YOUTHFUL ELOPERS

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Parents of Angelina Martini, 13, told police they believed she had eloped with an 18-year-old neighbor boy.

BONUS LINE PRESENTED IN BOOKLET

The $14,000 mark was passed last night in the drive for the new electric line on Glendale avenue, and the outlook is exceedingly bright for the remainder of the money required being subscribed before the close of the week.

Hayselden took his coat off this morning, and when he does anything like that you can look for the fireworks.

"P. J.," who has complete charge of the campaign, stated this morning that everything looks rosy. "Investments," according to the manager, are coming in in a very encouraging manner.

A meeting of the combined railroad committee has been called for 7:30 o'clock tonight at the railroad headquarters in the office of Mrs. Mabel L. Tight, 612 East Broadway. The members of this committee are P. J. Hayselden, chairman; Ed M. Radke, C. E. Kimlin, W. C. Page, F. L. Fawkes, Lon Haddock, Dan Kelty, Dr. Hogue, Mr. Gordon, Mrs. Mabel L. Tight, Herman Nelson, C. E. Stanley, W. E. Mercer, J. L. Perch, W. L. Twining, J. T. McClish and O. W. Tarr.

"Attention—La Crescenta, Montrose, Glendale! A new electric car line between La Crescenta, Montrose and Glendale, and Los Angeles. Sounds good, doesn't it?"

This is printed in bold, black type as an opener in an interesting and enlightening circular just published by the committee in charge of securing additional funds for the electrification of the Glendale avenue car line. Following this, the pamphlet goes on to explain the railroad proposition as seen by the committee. It reads as follows:

"The Glendale and Montrose railway is now operating from La Crescenta to Broadway, Glendale. For some time past it has been operating at a loss. It now proposes, in cooperation with the Union Pacific railway, to electrify the old Salt Lake road from Glendale avenue and Broadway in Glendale to its connection with the yellow car line at the junction of San Fernando and Verdugo roads.

"The cost of this electrification will be $125,000, and of this amount the Glendale and Montrose railway is willing to furnish $100,000, provided the citizens of the communities to be immediately benefited by the line, namely, La Crescenta, Montrose and Glendale, contribute $25,000 toward the enterprise.

"The advantages of an electric line connecting these communities are manifold.

"First: It gives to its patrons direct connection with the yellow car line with the privilege of a universal transfer to any part of that system—all for the one fare. Our present system terminates at Sixth and Main streets and does not give transfers.

"Second: It reduces the present carfare 25 to 33 1-3 per cent. For this comparison see the table attached hereto.

"Third: It offers two lines of car service in place of the present single line.

"Fourth: The reduction in fares adds very materially to the present value of every foot of real estate in this entire section by increasing the transportation facilities between this section and Los Angeles—the great, throbbing, metropolitan heart of the Southland.

"Furthermore, a reduction in fare means an increased influx of settlers and homebuilders and every newcomer adds his quota of wealth to the business, professional and all other interests of the community.

"According to economists, 25 cents out of every dollar spent by the American people goes for transportation charges. It will be seen from this that a reduction of 25 to 33 1-3 per cent in transportation charges will be a very considerable factor in reducing the present high cost of living.

"The communities affected by this car line are in the center of the fastest growing section of the world today, and if these communities are to keep pace with the present demand made upon them, better transportation facilities must be provided.

"Three things establish values in any community: Location, Transportation and Population. As to the former, the location of La Crescenta, Montrose and Glendale is unexcelled in the world, but the present transportation facilities are meagre and must be increased and population will then follow as a natural result.

A committee of representative men and women now devoting their entire time to the securing of this $25,000 and the savings in the present cost of transportation between here and Los Angeles will pay it back to the community several times over every year.

"The railroad people will begin work on the new road the minute this money is raised, and guarantee to have it in operation within four months."

THE RABIES 'SCARE'

The communication from Dr. Kaemmerling in yesterday's issue of the Glendale Daily Press should set at rest apprehension of dog owners as to the slaughter of their pets by the police.

It should quiet, also, apprehension of nervous citizens as to the possibility of a great epidemic of rabies in Glendale.

From Dr. Kaemmerling's statement it would appear that his measures, under the authority of the state board of health, are preventive, precautionary—and therefore, wise.

In connection with this there seems to be a misapprehension at the city hall as to what the duties of the law enforcement officers of the city may be in relation to the enforcement of the quarantine.

It would be well, we suggest, for the chief of police and other city officials to cease the emission of various statements upon the subject of rabies, regulations under the state quarantine, et al and so forth, and permit Dr. Kaemmerling to handle the matter in which he as city health officer is held now personally accountable to the state, not to the city. The city has no ordinance affecting the situation and is without any direct authority to act, as we understand it, except by direction of the city physician.

So far as the analysis of the Glendale Daily Press has been able to penetrate, the matter arises over two dogs. One at the time was in the hands of a veterinarian for treatment. The veterinarian believed the dog had rabies, reported it, the animal was killed. It was infected. The second came to notice when a surly dog, belonging to a Japanese, bit a man. It was found to be infected. Cats found at the same place were killed with the dog. The dog had rabies.

On the theory that these two animals might have infected other animals, the state authorities were invoked and the quarantine was invoked.

By no stretch of imagination could it be set up that on the slender basis of two such animals that there are rabid dogs running wild in Glendale. Or that the hundreds of pets, cats and dogs, are infected.

As to the stray homeless cats and dogs, it is probably true wisdom to end their existence, and this is the purpose of the quarantine. By keeping the pet stock isolated the strays may be differentiated.

Reports of wholesale slaughter of dogs and cats given out at the city hall were well intended but untruthful propaganda which demonstrated the evil results should be eliminated.

A quarantine of any kind may be drastic in its authorization, else it would lack essential measures of efficient enforcement.

This one gives to Dr. Kaemmerling practically unlimited authority to meet a situation which the state board presumes to have risen in Glendale. While it is within his power under his instructions from the state to exercise severity, such a course would naturally produce its own reactions, distasteful, to say the least, to anyone called upon to enforce a quarantine. Cooperation by the people will, we are convinced by Dr. Kaemmerling, modify the rigors of the quarantine. Lack of cooperation would naturally increase the severity.

The confinement of dogs is for their own protection and for the protection of children of the city from a theoretical condition.

Although directed by the state board of health to keep animals attacking persons under confinement for ten days for observation, Dr. Kaemmerling does not believe is wise, since ten days he considers too long to wait before administering treatment. Hence he prefers to proceed with the killing of all stray animals on the theory of general infection. This, too, is entirely within his discretion. But there is no assumption that such strays are mad dogs and are running wild through the streets, spreading rabies.

ASSESSED VALUES IN CITY REACH $21,910,780

Report Reaches the City School Board From County Office

The assessed value of Glendale is placed at $21,910,780, in a letter just received from County Superintendent of Schools Keppel by Richardson D. White, superintendent of schools of Glendale. From the special tax of 28 cents per $100, the schools of Glendale will receive $61,350; from the building tax of 15 cents, $32,866 will be derived, and from the kindergarten tax of 12 cents, $26,292 will be made available. Superintendent Keppel pointed out that these are maximum amounts and the actual money received would not run over these figures. In addition to the total of these amounts, the city schools will receive funds from the county and also the state.

The foregoing was reported at the meeting of the board of education, held at the board's headquarters at 7:30 o'clock last night, at which board members Mrs. A. A. Martin, Mrs. Arthur C. Brown, and E. H. Leonard, were present.

At this session Dr. Kaemmerling, city health officer, asked that a school nurse be appointed, but action in this matter was deferred until all members of the board were present.

Mr. David Black, business manager of the schools, reported that the work on the different schools in Glendale is progressing nicely. He stated that the chairs for the new Acacia avenue, Grand View, Colorado avenue addition and the Glendale avenue intermediate schools had been purchased, and would be installed some time next week.

Miss Helen Gould of Glendale was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Andrews at the Intermediate school on Wilson avenue.

POSTOFFICE SITE IS C. OF C. PLAN

Pres. Hollister Believes Time Is Ripe to Interest Washington

COMMITTEE NAMED

Verdugo Wash and Other Committees Make Report

The initial step looking toward the securing of a federal building for Glendale, this to house the local postoffice, was taken today at the forum meeting of the chamber of commerce. In his talk on the subject, President Hollister stated that the government was in the mood to secure ground in all cities having a first-class postoffice and that this is the time that Glendale should make an effort to secure a building of this kind. Following his remarks, President Hollister named the following committee to take charge of the work: J. G. Huntley, chairman; W. E. Evans, Mattison B. Jones, A. R. Eastman, A. T. Cowan and Dr. Henry Harrower.

The committee on the improvement of Verdugo wash with two boulevards, one on either side, reported that it wanted authority to have plans and cross-sections of the proposed improvement so that the work could go forward.

A report was made by the Southern Pacific depot committee, of which George Bentley is chairman, this being to the effect that it was expected to arrange a meeting with the S. P. officials soon, after which definite progress will result.

The annexation committee, of which Roy Kent is chairman, reported that the preliminary work on the annexation of the Casa Verdugo district is being done by Assistant City Engineer Stone, this being to register and re-sign the residents of that section in favor of the proposition. A meeting of the unregistered voters of the Casa Verdugo district has been called for next Friday evening in the Central avenue school.

Chairman Emery of the committee for securing reduction in the fares over the Pacific Electric to Los Angeles reported that he would have a meeting soon, at which he would recommend acting along the line of fares being charged on a basis of maintenance and upkeep, rather than mileage.

In the matter of the electrification of the Glendale avenue line, Chairman Kimlin reported that the drive for the additional sum required is now on and the workers are doing valiant work. He stated that the people of this city were not taking the railroad matter as seriously as they should, that they seemed not to realize the value this line would be to Glendale. Mr. Kimlin then called on Mr. Hayselden, who is in charge of the campaign, who said:

"Those most interested in this drive are working and working hard. As in everything of this kind, there are a large number who would like to see the thing go through but mighty few who are willing to take their coats off and put it over. We need workers in this campaign. I am confident it is only a question of calling on the people to put this thing over. Every resident should be on his toes, as they say, for this line, as it will be of untold value to all sections."

Assistant Secretary Sanders suggested that a "glad hand" committee be appointed in the chamber, but Dr. Russell said that while the idea was a good one, it was her opinion that a pamphlet bearing the names of all the civic and social organizations of Glendale so that the newcomers could select the ones they wished to become connected with, was a better procedure.

"Let the newcomers do a little toward making themselves feel at home," said Dr. Russell. "There are more organizations in Glendale than in any city of its size in the United States and there is really no reason for newcomers to get lonesome."

Short addresses were given by Fred Deal, local manager of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, who told of some of the improvements to be made by his company; Dr. Boyer, who described a few of his experiences while on his recent trip to Europe; a representative of the Victor Manufacturing company, which is erecting a large factory at the edge of Glendale, and F. C. Chamberlain and Ensign France, who announced a campaign to be put on in Glendale soon to raise funds for the Salvation Army. They asked for the endorsement by the chamber of their proposition, and this was gladly and unanimously given. A motion to afford this endorsement was made by Dan Campbell and seconded by Jesse Smith. Rev. Cole, pastor of the Central Christian church, it was announced, would have charge of the campaign in Glendale. The money secured in this drive, it was stated, would be used in Southern California.

WEST SIDE ASSOCIATION REFUSES TO ATTACK THE HIGH SCHOOL BOND ISSUE

Denounce City Administration Dog Policy and Condemn Ordinance to Be Before Council Thursday Night for Final Reading

LAPHAM DECLARES IT WILL BE PASSED

Alexander Mitchell Declares Recent Action of Foothill Association on Bond Issue Was Unrepresentative and Not Representative of Sentiment

The West Side Improvement association declared opposition to the city administration upon the alleged rabies matter last night, declared itself opposed to the enactment of an ordinance enforcing the rigors of the state quarantine, criticised the city officials severely, refused unanimously to oppose the high school bond issue at the polls, thanked Mr. Hayselden for his explanation of the electric line bonus, listened to representatives of various proposed northwest high school sites explain their offerings, heard that the Hahn option for an extension of the Patterson park would meet with no opposition in the city council, that Patterson improvement would be again advanced by the city, recommended improvements in northwest street, advocated the opening of Kenilworth street, and before adjourning, decided to go into the city transportation by bus lines.

That next Thursday night's meeting of the city council was to be featured by the enactment of a quarantine ordinance against dogs, was stated by Councilman Lapham.

"And we are going to vote that ordinance," he declared firmly; "the editor of one of the newspapers bet the health office a hat that we would not do it. But we will."

The declaration brought Alexander Mitchell to his feet with a jerk.

He denounced the impending action of the council as unconstitutional, silly and absurd, and denounced the shooting of dogs in the street. He was joined by other speakers.

Thereupon Councilman Lapham declared that the city did not intend to shoot anybody's dog, to invade anybody's rights. He said he spoke for the dogs, the cats and the kids. He plead it was for "only thirty days."

John Gray joined in the attack on the administration's dog policy with a lengthy speech and the motion condemning the proposed ordinance was passed with a shout.

Mr. Gray was on his feet immediately when the opposition to the proposed high school bond issue, in its present form was presented. He urged the association to follow the action of the Foothill association and vote against the bonds.

"Yes," said Alexander Mitchell in reply, "you got that passed when there were less than two dozen members present and the association has two hundred members. The Foothill association will vote for the high school bonds. This is no time nor place to bring up the matter."

Considerable more debate followed and the vote was taken.

Mr. Hayselden's explanation of the need of the electric line was followed by lively discussion during which public ownership of public utilities was advocated, the history of the P. E. bonuses and grants revived and it was suggested that if the Glendale-Montrose line was a failure it should be taken up by the city and the bonus voted to the city. This was opposed by those who declared it unwise to saddle the city with a failure.

The termination was the vote to thank Mr. Hayselden.

Mr. Lapham explained that if, and when, the Hahn addition to the city park at Patterson avenue was secured, the city would then engage the best landscape gardener of California to lay out the tract as a whole, not in piecemeat.

Discussing the street conditions of the northwest, he declared he had been trying to get the street department to the section and asked the help of the association to that end.

It was then decided to take up the matter of motor bus transportation as against street railways, at the next meeting.

CHILD INJURED

A small child of Mr. and Mrs. Huser, of Oak street, was struck at 5 o'clock last night by a machine which was operated by Mrs. J. H. Berry, of 415 West Colorado street. Immediately after the accident the little one was taken to the Glendale sanitarium, where it was given medical aid by Dr. Johnson, of that institution. The injuries were found to be slight, and the child was returned to its home. According to Mrs. Berry the youngster ran out in front of the machine and it was impossible for her to avoid striking it.

VAGRANT STRICKEN

John Davis, a vagrant, suffered an attack of heart failure while he stopped to rest on the platform of the Independent Lumber company on San Fernando road yesterday morning at 11:15 o'clock. Officers Royal and Griffith answered a call to the Glendale police. After suffering for some time the victim recovered sufficiently to continue on his way—to the land of anywhere.

BEST BABY CONTEST TO END SEPT. 30

No Coupons to Be Received After That Date

JUDGES TO BE NAMED

Photograph Proofs Must Be Returned to Photographers

Mothers of beautiful babies whom they desire to enter in the "Best Baby" contest must take notice that no coupons will be received after September 30.

There must be time allowed for the judging of the babies and the awarding of prizes and the entries must stop some time.

Judges will be selected in a few days and the time and place of the judging announced.

Another thing! Mothers have been slow about sending back the proofs of the photographs that were taken of their babies and photographers have been unable to print them for us as we desired them. Before the prizes are awarded there will be a careful check of entries and subscriptions and pictures. The Press does not want any of the babies absent from its picture gallery, the most charming collection of infant beauty that has ever been seen in this city.

So, mothers, send back the proofs of the pictures taken without loss of time, indicating your preference, that the photographer may do his work.

The response has been wonderful, but in a city of 25,000, which is the admitted population of Glendale now, there must be many babies who should be in this contest whose applications have not yet come in.

Parents are therefore urged not to let their babies miss this big event by procrastination in making the entry. Mail it today.

The prizes are adequate to tempt any baby to the competition although the prizes should not be the only incentive.

First comes a prize of $100 in gold, given by the Press.

Second prize, a merchandise order for $100, given by Pendroy's Dry Goods company, Glendale.

There is no deterioration in the quality of the babies whose applications are coming in. They grow better and better. One of the latest is Patricia Middleton, 2 years, 10 months old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Middleton, of 545 North Maryland avenue, Glendale. Patricia is a little witch with dark hair and eyes and so much pep that all the other children in the neighborhood have a hard time keeping up with her. She is not naughty, but just lively. As is natural with such abounding health and spirits, she has a great deal of initiative and is eager to do whatever she sees anyone else doing, whether it be sewing or dishwashing. In the use of words she is exceptionally advanced and has an unusual vocabulary for a child of her years.

Local Furniture Manufacturing Company Make Big Reduction

A surplus stock sale of furniture was put on by the Russell-Pierce Furniture Mfg. Co., Inc., 1529 South San Fernando road, this morning. This sale, in which all of the furniture manufactured recently by this company will be offered, is brought about by many important changes to the manufacturing plant and storeroom that this firm will make at the close of the sale.

A short time ago this firm made a number of machinery additions to their manufacturing plant. Since that time the business of the company has grown to such an extent as to make a rearrangement of the salesrooms and shoproom absolutely necessary. It is to prepare the way for this readjustment of these departments that this sale is being held.

All of the furniture that will be offered at this sale is strictly new and up-to-the-minute in style. It will include necessities for the entire home and all of the more popular woods will be available. One of the principal features of this sale is that liberal credit will be given to those making purchases, if such is desired.

ANNA GOULD AND HSBAND VISIT AMERICA

M. and Mme de Talleyrand-Perigord

M. Helle de Talleyrand-Perigord of Paris and his wife, formerly Anna Gould, divorced wife of Count Boni de Castellane, have arrived in Seattle, Wash., from the Orient. The duchess astonished passengers on the liner President Jackson by wearing $300,000 worth of jewels at a formal dinner given in the captain's honor and then leaving the banquet at its height and carrying a plate of beefsteak to her Pekingese dog in her suite on the upper deck.

The young man caller was amusing little Mary while he waited for her sister to appear. Taking her upon his knee he noticed that she was scanning his face carefully.

"Why do you look at me in that way?" he said.

"Why," said Mary, "I am looking for that word. Father said you had 'Idiot' all over your face."

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK—

By E. R. WAITE
Secretary, Swanee, Okla., Board of Commerce

THAT people who spend money want to receive courtesy as well as value for their money? They don't want to be met with a growl.

THAT your business men should not watch and wait for business, they should work to get better business for your city. They will have to work and pull together to do it.

THAT homes in your city must be at a premium, because every one wants one. Why not buy or build your own home?

THAT with the right kind of cooperation of your citizens, your city can grow by leaps and bounds.

THAT you should display your public spirit and boost your city as she deserves,

THAT your city should always be energetic and that you should make her snap envied by your neighboring cities.

THAT the quickest way to sell or to buy, or to fulfill any want, is to ADVERTISE!

THAT by advertising, the desire is created in the minds of those who are able to buy.

THAT you should place your ad before those who have the desire plus the price.

THAT you shoud not stop too long to deliberate. DO IT NOW! That opportunities are often lost by too much deliberation.

THAT it is the get together, pull together and work together effort of every citizen that will make your city a greater city.

If You Have a Lot Build a Home NOW

Wage earners, salary folk and others or modest income, who want financial aid in building a home can obtain it at once, if they have 30 per cent of the total cost of the proposed home and homesite.

FIRST LADY OF LAND HONORS GIRL SCOUTS

Exhibits Autographed Picture of Mrs. Harding in Uniform

A regular meeting of the girl scouts was held Tuesday at the home of the leader of the troop, Miss Gladys Sharpe, 109 West Lomita, which was uneventful so far as business transacted was concerned, but which was marked by some interesting incidents. One of the scouts exhibited a photograph of Mrs. Warren G. Harding, wife of the president of the United States in scout costume, and bearing her autograph, which she had received from the first lady of the land in response to a letter written Mrs. Harding in which the writer expressed the inspiration it had been to her to know that the president's wife is identified with the girl scout movement. She had not asked for the photograph nor expected to receive it. Her own surprise and pleasure were shared by all the members of the troop.

Another announcement received with great satisfaction was the receipt by Mary Stanley of a second lieutenant's commission. She was a first class scout and is one of the scouts in highest standing in the troop.

No man lives a useless life. He may serve as an example for others to avoid.

BUSINESS WOMEN WARM NEW HOME

Half Hundred Members Assemble at New Headquarters on Maryland

Between forty and fifty members of the Glendale Business and Professional Women's club enjoyed the housewarming at the new clubhouse, 126 South Maryland, Tuesday evening, when the rooms were inspected and admired and considerable enthusiasm awakened which promises to yield gifts to supplement the long list of donations to the furnishings which was read by Dr. Caroline Payne Jackman, chairman of the house committee.

All members were tagged with their names and nativity as they arrived, the count showing that Illinois led with five to her credit, and New Jersey and New York were close seconds with four each. One acknowledged Canada as her native land; another gave France as her first home, and still another, Scotland. California had but three names to her credit. Other states represented were Nebraska, Colorado, Missouri, Pennsylvania, Kansas, Ohio, Indiana and Minnesota.

There was general visiting for about half an hour before the gathering was called to order by the president, Dr. Laura Brown, who introduced for the benefit of new members, the officers and chairmen of committees who were present.

Dr. Jessie Russell and Mrs. Mabel Tight, both members of the club, presented the project to electrify the Union Pacific line on Glendale avenue as one of the most important movements that has ever been started for the benefit of the city and its citizens and asked for volunteers to canvass their localities to help in collecting subscriptions for the $25,000 bonus it is necessary to raise. Several of the members volunteered to assist and it is probable that others will contribute when solicited.

Miss Olive Pixley, also a club member, gave an excellent talk on the Wright bill for the enforcement of the 18th amendment in this state, concurrent with the Volstead act. Under present conditions it cannot be enforced because the federal officers are too few in number. As a matter of law and order and loyalty to the constitution, she declared that good citizens should support this Wright bill whether they personally believe in prohibition or not, because defiance of law in this case will mean defiance of law in other cases where the law runs counter to the personal prejudices of citizens and undermine the whole fabric of law and order.

She stated that the federal courts are so congested with bootlegger cases that they have no time for their legitimate business and have degenerated to the level of the police courts. She cited the effect when 150 naturalization cases of persons seeking citizenship had to be hustled through in three hours last Friday because the court had no more time to give them.

California, she pointed out, is the one exception in all the states of the Union, which has not ratified the Volstead act by passing a state enforcement measure similar to the Wright bill.

Miss Dorothy Woods contributed a delightful pianologue, "In the Usual Way," and for an encore, an Italian dialect recitation, "Between Two Loves."

Her mother, Mrs. Nanno Woods, also a member of the club, delighted her fellow members with the reading of several original poems, for which she is somewhat celebrated. She explained how she came to embody her everyday philosophy of life in these bits of verse and said that the first one, "Mother's Room," was peculiarly a Glendale poem, describing its special inspiration. This was followed by "Smile When Your Husband Comes Home," and its complement, written for husbands, entitled, "When You Get Home at Night."

This ended the evening's program and punch was served by members of the hospitality committee and more visiting and inspecting of the clubhouse was enjoyed.

PRESS-NEWTON STAGES KFAC MUSIC

To Be on the Air This Evening at 7 o'Clock Promptly

Orchestra night comes once a week, and tonight is the night.

Reports indicate the radio fans look forward to Wednesday night's program from this station because they can always have their favorite piece played in real harmony.

Several fans have expressed their opinions in regard to the pieces played inasmuch as it is all late popular music. On this account the KFAC orchestra will play a program of their own choosing, and will play pieces that are old or back numbers and possibly towards the end of the program will mix in one or two new pieces, such as "Tomorrow Will Be Brighter than Today," and "You'll Be Sorry."

The program starts at 7 p. m.

K. OF P. INITIATE TWO CANDIDATES

Visitors From Los Angeles and Hollywood Attend Ceremonies

Two candidates were initiated Tuesday night at the regular meeting of the Knights of Pythias, held in Castle hall, corner Park avenue and Brand boulevard. The rank of esquire was conferred, the work being put on by the local officers.

There were quite a number of visitors from Los Angeles and Hollywood present, and on Friday night several Glendale knights will journey to Hollywood, where they will confer the rank of esquire.

Plans were discussed for the purchase of about 100 acres of land on which to build a Pythian home for the aged. The order is trying to get some city to donate a part of the land, and it will purchase the rest. After deciding the location of this home it will bring the matter before the grand lodge meeting, to be held in May.

BLAINE'S TURTLE BLOCKS BUSINESS

James Blaine, head clerk at the Jesse E. Smith Ford agency, is the proud possessor of a pet turtle. Mr. Blaine brought Mr. Turtle down to the office with him on Tuesday and tied him to his chair, thus furnishing amusement to many who happened to come in. Many people stopped in to see the new model Ford, but upon seeing Mr. Turtle's funny motions their attention was taken from the car. Mr. Blaine decided that he should take Mr. Turtle home with him to La Crescenta where he will not interfere with the sale of Ford cars.

Some people hope for the best only under protest and are disappointed when it happens.

'LIVE FOREVER' APOSTLE HERE THURSDAY

Lucius Pitzer, Clairvoyant to Tell of Principles of Organization

Lucius Pitzer, announced as the "greatest clairvoyant of this century of marvels," has issued a call to join the Live Forever Folk, that congregation whose members have "profited by the development of the sub-conscious mind," and he declared he would demonstrate the value of clairvoyance at a free meeting, open to the public, at the Glendale chamber of commerce, on Thursday evening, September 14, at 8 o'clock.

Pitzer says he will bring three distinct messages. First, explain to his audience what powers are said to reside in every individual. Next, how these powers are certain to exercise influence in the world, and the development of their full scope. Third, and perhaps greatest of the twain, according to Pitzer, he will present the movement launched by the Live Forever Folk, whose logical end is claimed to be the emancipation of mankind, its spiritual, social, religious, political and economic freedom.

More than two thousand years ago, according to Pitzer, the Great Teacher said: "The last enemy to be destroyed is death." By working together, without thought of sect or creed, Pitzer believes this goal must eventually be reached.

Six great principles are incorporated in the platform of the movement. These are said to be as changeless as the laws of the Medes and the Persians, and have been adopted by the organization. Beginning with the first principle of man's search for truth as the loftiest aim, the creed includes political freedom, the overthrow of corruption in high places, the utter denial of the divine right of kings theory, and other matters of vital importance to humanity.

RESULT OF CLEAN LIVING

As a result of clean living which put him in the pink of condition, Allen Roberts, W. S. C. '22, is making a phenomenal recovery from an automobile accident in which he suffered fracture of the skull, both jaws, and double fracture between the collar bone and breast bone. He was two hours and a half on the operating table without anesthetic and was not expected to live, but participation in college athletics had kept him in such good condition that it twenty days he was free of all splints and bandages and able to take a 2-hour auto ride with friends and talk to them. GUEST CLIPPERS CLUB ORGANIZING

Admirers of the verse of Edgar A. Guest, who met in Los Angeles, August 21, to observe the birthday of the poet, decided to organize as the "Clippers' Club," because they are in the habit of clipping Mr. Guest's poems and preserving them. Twenty-one charter members were enrolled and it was decided to hold the charter open for a month or six weeks to permit others from all over the county who, they felt, would want to join them, to enroll. Representatives to secure the names of such members were therefore appointed for the various towns tributary to Los Angeles and Miss Mary Carr Merritt of 210 Louise, was made the representative in Glendale. Mrs. Louise Pinkley of Los Angeles is president, but the vice president, Mrs. H. D. Strong and the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. H. C. Wilcox, are both Glendalians.

At the organization meeting Mrs. Wilcox gave a delightful talk about Mr. Guest, whom she knew as a child.

Miss Merritt's telephone number is 1340-M.

ENTERTAINS IN HONOR OF LITTLE DAUGHTER

In honor of the eleventh birthday of her daughter, Lillian, Mrs. Lillian Kilgallen of 722 East Maple entertained more than a score of guests at a delightful party on Tuesday afternoon. Miss Lillian has always had a party on her birthday, ever since the time when only one tiny candle flickered on the birthday cake.

Not only the honoree was made happy with pretty gifts, but each small guest received one also. Over the table was hung a mysterious box with pink ribbons leading to each place. When these ribbons were pulled each child was rewarded with a present.

Pink was the color chosen for the dining room decorations, and was carried out in the pink carnations and even in the dainty refreshments of strawberry ice cream and birthday cake. Red dahlias were used as decorations for the living room.

The afternoon was spent in playing games, and one of the most enjoyable was the clover hunt. Cardboard clovers had been hidden about the lawn and the child finding the largest number received the prize.

WATERVLIET, MICH., MAKES GLENDALE CITIZEN

Mrs. Fred E. Hagen has written from Watervliet, Mich., to friends in Glendale, that she is preparing to start soon for this city, where the family will make their home for the next year or two. The daughter, Miss Fannie Hagen, is on her way out here now and will attend Occidental college this year.

Mr. Hagen, who was compelled to leave his beloved work in Tokio, Japan, on account of his health, expects to make this his headquarters as an evangelist, until he settles upon a permanent location. The Hagens were former residents of Glendale and the membership of the Christian church are delighted at the prospect of having these great workers with them again.

TAYLORS GIVE INFORMAL AFFAIR

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taylor of 600 South Central avenue entertained informally Tuesday evening with a musicale. At the close of a delightful program refreshments were served by the hostess.

Guests were Miss Dorothy Sherman, Miss Henrietta Sommers, Richard Berry, Dr. J. Tunison and the Misses Margaret, Olive and Kathleen Taylor. Mr. Berry is a fine pianist and furnished delightful entertainment.

GILLETTE TENT INITIATES MEMBERS

Two new members were initiated last night at the regular meeting of the Mary Jane Gillette tent, Daughters of Veterans, held in the American Legion hall, 610-A East Broadway. They were Mrs. Daisy Kulp of 1234 Viola street, Glendale, and Miss Alice E. Archer, 915-D West 40th place, Los Angeles.

There was a splendid attendance at this meeting and the initiation followed the regular business session. A candidate for membership was also balloted upon and she will be initiated at the next meeting.

Plans were discussed for the first meeting in October which will be inspection night. It is important that every Daughter be present at that meeting, as the tent is graded according to their attendance and floor work.

It was announced that the Nimble Fingers, auxuiliary to the Daughters of Veterans, would meet next Monday night, September 18, at the home of Mrs. Dora Hall, 110 West Burchett street. There are two comforts to be tied, so a full attendance is desired to finish up this work.

MRS. RAY BENTLEY ENTERTAINS R. T. W.

Mrs. J. Ray Bentley of 1361 North Columbus avenue was hostess Tuesday afternoon to the R. T. W. class of the First Baptist church, when it held its regular business and social meeting.

Mrs. A. J. Maxwell, president, opened the meeting. Devotionals were led by Mrs. A. Van Wormer and Mrs. Jennie B. Doxsee, teacher of the class, led in prayer.

The class was very glad to welcome several new members and friends, among whom were Mrs. F. A. Bags, Mrs. Bentley's mother, from Lindsay, Calif.; Mrs. Carver, formerly of Cleveland, O., sister of Mrs. Van Wormer; Mrs. Wonacott, recently of Long Beach, sister-in-law of Mrs. Park Arnold; Mrs. Biglow, Mrs. Woodard of Glendale.

At the close of the afternoon delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Sudlow. Mrs. Bentley used purple asters and golden rod in decorating, making a pretty color combination.

The next meeting of the R. T. W. class will be held the first Tuesday in October.

W. C. T. U. MEETING

The local W. C. T. U. will meet Friday afternoon, September 15, at 2:30, at the home of Mrs. T. A. Wright, 141 North Louise street, instead of with Mrs. Hall at Eagle Rock.

The Danish state railways will thoroughly test a locomotive equipped with a crude oil motor similar to those on motor ships.

HARVEST HOME TO BE MINIATURE EXPOSITION

Exhibits to Be Illustrations of Funny Machinery

The things that cannot be found in the variety store of the Harvest Home festival will not be worth mentioning. Prospects are for the largest variety ever brought for sale over the counter in one variety store.

Mrs. L. M. Maynard was delighted to receive a telephone call yesterday from an Eagle Rock woman living in the country, who told her that she had a quantity of furniture which she would donate if someone would only come after it. Another resident stated her intention of giving 12 perfectly good pairs of little boys' shoes, that had been outgrown. Anything of the sort will be a welcome item for the store.

An interesting part of the variety store will be the White Elephant booth. To those who have never been introduced to the mysterious animal, be it announced that he is any article that the present owner has tired of possessing and wishes he could wish it onto someone else for a while. Some of the most surprising things will come done up in packages, small, large and indifferent.

Whatever doesn't meet with the fancy of the buyers, will be donated to some worthy charity, and anyone having a suggestion as to where these things will do the most good and be the most appreciated, will be welcomed by the committee in charge of the festival.

Eagle Rock Personals

Remember our annual Harvest Home festival only happens once a year. You'll surely miss it if you miss it.

The enchantments offered in the vicinity of Robert's camp in the Big Santa Anita canyon lured two of Eagle Rock's young realtors to the realm of the great out-of-doors last week-end. Not saying who these two were, Milton H. Berry, Jr. and Mr. Raymond G. Church seem to know quite a lot about the dancing at Robert's.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Dean Tate, who recently sold their home on Glen Eyrie, have bought a lot in Dahlia Heights, and are preparing to build there immediately.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Abbot and son, George, of North Peyton have returned from a trip of three weeks to the northern part of the state, going as far as Humboldt county in their Hudson.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter of North Satsuma were visited by their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. White of Catalina Island. Mr. and Mrs. White are here for a short time, but intend to return and spend the winter here.

Mrs. Essie Davis Koen is being visited during the school term by her niece, Miss Vera Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walker J. Davis of Woodland, Calif. Miss Davis entered the Glendale high school Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bryson of Newcastle, England, are to come to Eagle Rock with their family and are planning to make their home here. Mr. and Mrs. Bryson have purchased the Enman home at 121 South Royal drive through the White & Clark firm. They are in Los Angeles at the present time but will take up occupation of their new home soon.

Mr. F. W. H. Pulford, of 246 S. Sierra Vista drive, has his neice, Mrs. Harrell Hancox, of Toledo, O., as a visitor. She plans to stay until the latter part of October, and will also visit relatives in Pasadena before going east again.

The Misses Wilson, of 146 West Myrtle, are spending the week at their attractive cottage at Manhattan beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy K. Cole, who have been spending their honeymoon in Honolulu, arrived in San Francisco Tuesday morning. They sailed from the island port on September 6, and will visit in the northern part of the state before returning to their home in Whittier. Mrs. Cole, nee Mildred Wight, is the daughter of Frank J. Wight, Eagle Rock building inspector, and will be remembered as one of the most popular girls in Eagle Rock.

BY THE PEOPLE

According to latest reports we are to have a "new dance craze" in L. A. and vicinity. Just how the "craze" will manifest itself is difficult to state at the present writing. Just what part of the anatomy will be most seriously affected is as yet a profound mystery. But any kind of a craze is interesting, for a while. Sanity in dancing would be uninteresting to anyone.

Mr. Ford has been heard from again. It is not a threat to shut down his plant for want of coal, but he states positively that he will shut out from his employment the man who permits his throat to become the highway for the transportation of wine or any kind of liquors. Mr. Ford has discovered what some others have, that wine and gasoline do not mix well. This time he has the constitution of the nation back of him and with him, to some degree.

* * *

A new "urge" has been discovered, and this time it is an urge upon the part of those who have at heart the proper sanitary conditions of our eating houses, and we are informed that the great "urge" requests that all who are engaged in preparing our food and waiting on tables be asked to wear "hair nets" or other coverings. If this is done it will save much time and effort in trying to discover that little something that gets into one's mouth when eating and retards the power one is supposed to have for swallowing easily. Now it is reasonable to look for a rise in the price of nets in the near future.

What thrills must have passed through the heart of Atlantic City when 58 of the most beautiful girls in the U. S. were nestled in its bosom. But who are those judges that dare presume to decide who America's most beautiful girls are? There are multitudes of young fellows who would differ with those judges. No doubt there are a number of girls in Eagle Rock city whose beauty far outshines any at Atlantic City if some of our young men were to judge. For there are no eyes like the eyes of the girl you love, and that loves you. If you are not convinced just watch John and Mary as they look into each other's "dreamy eyes."

Einstein must be given the credit for arousing interest in the whole universe. It is likely that even the men on Mars are wondering if he is right in his conclusions. And now we are to have a test made on Mt. Wilson with huge tubes a mile long to decide this theory of relativity. If beams of light bend in great circles as they pass through immensity, we want to know it. In fact, we may discover that this is not the earth at all, but some other planet. Who knows! So disturbing are the methods and discoveries of these scientists that many of us poor ordinary mortals can't tell whether we are going east or west, or whether we are going at all. It is to be hoped that old Mt. Wilson will settle this perplexing problem for all time with its huge tubes and other equipment, and that Prof. Michelson will be able to remove from our minds those unanswered questions which have risen since Einstein tinkered with the machinery that governs planets and suns, and if possible secure the monkey wrench he has thrown into the wheels and bring things back to normal. Let us hope the suspense will soon cease.

"WHAT'S WHAT"

That's the question. Signs are to be seen in the windows of the business houses and on the windshields of machines, but just what is meant, no one can be made to tell.

As it seems to be a popular question, it is impossible to determine whether it refers to music, real estate, or dry cleaning, or just plain Eagle Rock. Several knowing persons have been asked about "What?" but, as Milton Hancock says, no one is in a position to tell "What's What."

People just go around asking such idiotic questions as "Isn't 'What' what you wanted to know?" "Why ask 'What'?" "Who asked 'What'?" and "What do they mean by 'What'?" "What?" "What not?" and more of the same.

H. E. BARNUM IS A BUSY PERSON

H. E. Barnum, realtor of the east end, has found it necessary to divide his time between the local office and the tract headquarters in Rosemont, where he is associated with Senator Leslie E. Francis and F. Walters in subdividing a 1500-acre portion of the Sparr tract.

Mr. Pike will have charge of the local office and business during Barnum's absence. He states that real estate keeps moving right along, and that three more lots have changed ownership in the Dahlia Heights tract in the past week.

NOVEL EVENING AT EAGLE ROCK

A novel and entertaining evening was spent Tuesday by members of the Eagle Rock O. E. S., who had as their guests the matrons, patrons and their trailers, of Los Angeles, and entertained with a refreshing lawn supper at the home of Mrs. Charles Dirks, matron of the local chapter.

After the supper the members and guests repaired to the Masonic hall, where a fine program was offered, followed by dancing to music furnished by the orchestra of the Maryland hotel, Pasadena. Over 150 attended.

The lawn of the Dirks residence was prettily lighted for the occasion through a courtesy extended by the Edison company, under the solicitation of P. H. Ducker, who is associated with the Edison company.

GET INTO THE GAME

Just where are you and what are you?

If you live in Eagle Rock and claim to be a citizen, let's see if you are. Any live citizen—we said live—is going to get in and back this coming Harvest Home Festival to the limit.

Why? Because it is for the biggest benefit that any movement can be for.

It is for the children.

Just because the allotted school fund was not sufficient to provide for a cafeteria—the kind of a cafeteria that can be really classed as an asset to a school—the P.-T. A. did not give up the idea of having one. They did the only thing there was to do—act upon a plan to raise the money.

Just how much you boost this Festival, just how much you buy, is going to determine just how well and how economically your child is to be fed at the school cafeteria. A scientific diet of the most nutritious foods is to be worked out and the funds raised on September 15 and 16 will be donated in order to enable your children to get these foods at cost and less.

Here's another reason for backing the Harvest Home Festival. What would be dearer to the hearts of Eagle Rock young people than a swimming pool of their own in which to spend the hot summer days? It would not only afford unlimited pleasure, but would take the idle boys off the streets and place them in line for healthful recreation. A per cent of the net receipts of the Festvial are to be made the nest egg for this plunge.

If there is any reason why two such projects as these should not be given a 100 per cent backing, the P.-T. A. and children of the city schools would like to hear it.

Today the Eagle Rock Daily Press is being carried by the school children into every home in Eagle Rock by an arrangement made with the P.-T. A. for an addition of 1500 copies to the regular circulation of the Press. When you have read all about this Festival, pass the paper on to your neighbor, in case he has been missed. Tell everybody. Push. It's a go.

FESTIVAL FUN

Oh, that glorious parade! To think the East school is really going to have a float made on one of the trucks of the Eagle Rock Lumber company for their school. And no other than Mr. Langly Goodman is going to decorate it for them. The way he decorates for the Pasadena tournament of roses suits us, and we'll be glad to see the East school "float."

It has leaked out lately that the entire teacher force of our local schools will have a place in the big parade Friday. Oh, boy, wonder how they will look on parade!

Gee, but isn't that little goat cute? You will say so when you see the kiddies driving him at the Harvest Home festival. There's to be a real donkey, too, but he doesn't kick.

The old museum, or as some have dubbed it, an art gallery, will be worth anybody's time to visit. Miss Wanda Morrow and Miss Alice Parker have this in charge.

Do you know what the future holds in store for you? Is he or she to be a blonde or a brunette? All you need to do to find out definitely is to go to one of the fortune telling booths at the Harvest Home festival, September 15 and 16.

An athletic program has been arranged for by Mrs. Collins, seventh grade teacher, and Mr. Compton, for the boys and girls on Saturday afternoon in connection with the Harvest Home festival.

Mrs. Claude Williams surely feels ambitious. She has charge of the nickle dances and expects to run a real tea room too, next Saturday afternoon at the Harvest Home festival.

CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

The children's library conducted at Pullman the past summer by the State College branch of the American Association of University Women has closed so successful a season that its continuance in future summers is assured.

DINNER GOWN

Youthful but exceedingly smart is a dinner gown of silver metal cloth. It has a straight, sleeveless bodice and a full, long skirt. The only trimming is a huge bow of the material on the left hip.

INTERNAL REVENUE GETS NEW RULES

Far reaching rules for the construction and enforcement of the internal revenue laws, based upon a new supreme court decision, are embodied in instructions received yesterday by Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodoell from the treasury department.

Some of the high spots in the ruling are:

"Revenue laws are not penal laws in the sense that requires them to be construed with great strictness in favor of the taxpayer, but are remedial in character and should be so construed as to carry out the intention of the legislature."

"When ambiguety is found in a statute or when it is necessary to determine a fact upon which the operation of a statute is made to depend, the regulations made by the department charged with the administration of the act are to be given great, sometimes controling weight."

"The burden of proof is on the taxpayer, sueing to recover taxes paid, to show that the taxes collected were illegal or the assessment excessive."

MOTOR TO RIVERSIDE

Mr. and Mrs. George of the La Crescenta hotel and Mr. George's sister, Mrs. Walter motored to Riverside Sunday and had dinner at the Mission Inn.

BURBANK'S ACCOMPLISHMENTS WILL BE TOLD IN MAGAZINE WITH NATIONAL CIRCULATION

Article Relating Advantages and Developments of City Will Be Published in October Issue of Illustrated Review

SECRETARY COLBURN AUTHOR OF ARTICLE

Nationally Known Journal to Publish Brief Story Containing Facts Rather Than Fiction; Pictures of City to Be Used

The many reasons why Burbank is an attractive city are destined to become more generally known to thousands of persons throughout the United States within the next few weeks through the efforts of the Burbank chamber of commerce and without expense to any organization or individual.

The advantages and developments of the city are to be published in the October issue of the Illustrated Review, a monthly journal of national circulation published by E. G. Lewis of the Palos Verdes project, the new policy of the publication being to devote more space to written articles.

A brief, yet complete, story of the many things for which Burbank is noted has been prepared by Secretary Bob Colburn of the local chamber of commerce and mailed to Mr. Lewis.

Secretary Colburn's article does not dwell on what this city may do in the future, or what the citizens here would like to do, but gives plain facts as to what has been accomplished in the city.

Data relative to the many industrial plants in the city, churches, fraternal orders, schools and similar information is furnished in the article.

Secretary Colburn believes that a story based on facts will go much further in convincing strangers of what Burbank has accomplished and the possibilities of accomplishments rather than a "long-winded" article that would be passed up by many readers owing to the article's length, and would be looked on more as a "dream" than reality by those who did read the entire article.

As it is, the article gives full information and is a credit both to the city and the writer.

In addition to the article, Secretary Colburn sent in several pictures, a majority of them being of the industrial plants of the city. A request for pictures of the city was made by Mr. Lewis.

The article to be published follows:

MrBerehlonh H-both.B!ouldbere

"BURBANK THE CITY"
LOCATION

Burbank is situated at the southeasterly entrance to the wonderfully rich San Fernando valley at the junction of the Southern Pacific main line and the coast line to San Francisco. A large portion of the city lies in the flat of the valley and is especially adapted to intensive farming, fruit growing, alfalfa, dairying and chicken raising. The remaining section lies on the gentle slopes leading up to the Verdugo hills, and offers exceptionally beautiful homesites as well as acres for citrus culture, being in the frostless belt. It is 11 miles from the city of Los Angeles and the two are connected by many paved highways, including the San Fernando boulevard, the Southern Pacific railroad, the Pacific Electric line and Dunlap Original stage lines.

CIVIC ADVANTAGES

Burbank has a splendid high school building at this time, but to provide facilities commensurate with the rapid growth of the city bonds have recently been voted and sold to the amount of $165,000, with which a new building will be completed this year.

A modern grammar school building recently opened accommodates over eight hundred and fifty pupils.

Eight church denominations attend to the spiritual welfare of the city.

Fraternal organizations include the Masonic, Odd Fellows, Yeomen, Eastern Star, Owls and Modern Woodmen.

The Woman's club, Commercial club and Choral club are all active in the social life of the city.

A company of the California National Guard, an American Legion Post, four live troops of Boy Scouts and a chamber of commerce are each taking an active part in the building of the Burbank of the future.

INDUSTRIAL ADVANTAGES

A glance at the following list of manufacturers who now have plants in Burbank will serve to convince one that Burbank is firmly established in the industrial development of the southwest:

American Aluminum-Metal Products Co.
Burbank Planing Mill.
Empire China Co.
Jaeger-Nickerl Candy Co.
Jackson, Genevieve, Inc.
Jergens, Andrew Co.
Libby, McNeil & Libby Co.
Moreland Truck Co.
Meneley, The Fred L., Co.
"Mayo," Incorporated.

These plants were located here because Burbank has a low tax rate, a low assessed valuation, abundant and economical water, gas and power supply, ideal climatic conditions, especially good railroad and switching facilities, ideal labor and housing conditions, and very economic building costs; and because the finished products of these plants can be placed in the hands of over two million consumers who reside within 150 miles of their plants.

AS A PLACE TO LIVE

The climate of Burbank is ideal; warm in the daytime and cool at night, and every true statement which has been made as to the climate of any other city of Southern California may be repated as to Burbank. Burbank has some fog, but as the city is some 35 miles from the ocean the little fog which does come in is soon dispelled by the morning sun.

Owing to the wonderfully even climate, building construction may be reasonably light and therefore correspondingly economical.

As a place to establish industry, as a place to live while following the pursuits of industry, as a place to rear and educate children and as a place to really enjoy life in the ultimate—

ENROLLMENT AT BURBANK HIGH AND GRAMMAR SCHOOLS BREAK ALL PREVIOUS CITY RECORDS

Superintendent Collins and Moore Report Largest Registrations, Best and Most Enthusiastic Teachers in History of City

GRAMMAR SCHOOL REGISTRATION IS 987

High School Term Opens in New Building, Although Construction Work Not Fully Completed; Lining Up High School Athletes

The largest enrollment of pupils in the history of the city, the best and most enthusiastic teachers and a greater number of school buildings than ever before tersely expresses the inauguration of the 1922-23 school term Monday in Burbank.

The total enrollment at the grammor schools Monday was 987, with many more pupils expected during the week, although yesterday's figures are 185 in excess of last year's registration, according to L. F. Collins, superintendent of the grammar schools.

The enrollment figures at the new Union high school were not computed yesterday, but will be far in excess of the high school enrollment here last year, F. Stillwell Moore, superintendent of the high school, said.

Superintendent Collins spoke very highly of the abilities and enthusiasm of the corps of principals and teachers who will be in charge of Burbanks younger pupils this season. E. B. Thomas is principal at the John Muir school building, formerly the old high school and now used by the intermediates; Miss Swain is principal at the primary building, and Miss Farrar is principal at the Thomas A. Edison building, formerly known as the "grammar school."

About thirty teachers have been employed in the grammar school work, which started in earnest today.

Superintendent Moore also spoke highly of the instructors at the high school, all of them being well qualified for their respective positions.

Like the grammar schools, the high school studies did not start until today, the first day being devoted to registrations and assignments.

Although the new high school has not been fully completed, ample rooms for the students have been prepared. Carpenters are yet working on the building.

The cafeteria at the high school will not be completed for several weeks, but beginning Monday lunches will be served in the home economics department. Superintendent Moore said.

The modern gymnasium and the section for the mechanical department will be completed later.

The new athletic coach at the high school is Gerald Ogborn, who gathered the hi athletes at the John Muir building today in order to arrange for the coming season.

Unfortunately, two teachers hired for duty at the local high school accepted positions elsewhere at the last moment, causing Superintendent Moore considerable trouble in searching for two more.

Miss Mattison has been procured to take the place of Miss Vera Carr, who resigned to accept a similar position at Gardena, but up to last night no one had been found to take the place of Miss Jean Leonard, who has been placed on the official substitute list in Los Angeles, causing her to resign her position with the local high school.

CABBAGE SALAD

Remove outside leaves from small, solid white cabbage and cut off stalk close to leaves. Remove center in such fashion as to form a bowl, and cut rim in points. Garnish with red apples and whole cloves. With a sharp knife thinly shred removed portion, put in ice water and let stand one hour. Drain in cheese cloth as dry as possible. Mix with an equal measure of crisp, finely cut celery, moisten with dressing, fill prepared bowl with mixture and pile dressing on top. If apples are liked use one-half apple, cut in small pieces, in place of all celery.

BUSINESS SYSTEM CHANGED BY PAGE

Furniture Company Starts Convenient Credit Organization

The Page Furniture company, 306-308 East Broadway, has inaugurated a new system in the conduct of its business which will prove very convenient and popular among Glendale people and patrons of the store. It is the "convenient credit system," which Mr. Page has decided to give to the Glendale people, and which he intends to make a big feature of his rapidly growing business.

Having one of the largest stocks of furniture and home furnishings in the valley, Mr. Page is in a position to give the public a service in this way that will prove a real service—and good goods, right prices and service has been Mr. Page's aim ever since he opened here for business. The large advertisement of the Page Furniture company elsewhere explains the proposition, and those desiring to take advantage of this new system will be given an advantage that is well worth while. The Page Furniture company sells furniture in large quantities in all the nearby cities and the stock carried is second to none in this section.

$104,000 BID AWARDED TO LOCAL CO.

General Construction Co. to Build Catholic Convent at Alhambra

The General Construction company of this city has just been awarded the contract for the construction of a large Catholic convent in Alhambra to cost about $104,000. Alfred Shaff will have charge of the construction work. The building will be started within 10 days and will be completed within 5 months. It will be a three-story and basement buildings and will be made chiefly of brick with reenforced concrete bellfry. There will be 20 rooms in the basement, 15 on the first floor, 30 on the second floor and about 20 on the third floor.

Cold water for shaving when he is away, with nobody he dares scold for it, can make a man more homesick than anything else.

Pacific-Southwest Review

By D. H. SMITH

Mgr. Brand Boulevard Branch of the Los Angeles Trust & Savings Bank

Recently in one of the Los Angeles papers I saw an article by Jonathan S. Dodge, State Superintendent of Banks, which gave a very interesting outline of the banking situation in California. This report contains so much of interest to the depositors of the banks that have helped make this outstanding record that I am persuaded to set down in this short article a few of the interesting facts it contained.

Mr. Dodge tells us that in California are 675 Separate and distinct state banking institutions and 282 national banks. Of the state banks 238 are branches of main institutions.

Effective at the close of business on September 16, 1922, the name of the Los Angeles Trust & Savings Bank will be changed to that of the Pacific-Southwest Trust & Savings Bank.

The entire population of California is approximately three and a half million are depositors of the banks of this state. These depositors have gradually built up the banking resources of the state until, at the last call, the enormous total of $2,487,026,000 was reached.

"The prosperity of California depends upon the continued and regular deposits of its people made in the savings banks of the State," says Mr. Dodge.

"One of the reasons for the continued and unusual prosperity of the State even during the reconstruction period after the world war was the tremendous power of over a billion dollars deposited in small sums by the thrifty people who make up the population of the State.

"The sources of the economic development of California are the small savers of the State, the men and women whose individual margin between receipts and expenditures is small.

"It is these people, the thrifty wage earner, the farmer, the small shop keeper, the country merchant and the professional classes who are the real owners of the savings banks of the State. These are the people who are supplying the great supply of money for the exploitation and development of our irrigation, hydro-electric and transportation systems.

"The savings bank is not organized to sustain the vicissitudes of commerce; it is created to develop the State, slowly and safely.

"Incidentally, it is interesting to note what our banks are doing with reference to loans upon real estate; those loans that mean so much toward the upbuilding of our communities in the acquisition of homes and the development of productive real property. On December 31, 1921, the savings banks of California had loaned about 51 per cent of their assets, or approximately $531,000,000, upon real estate security. This is the largest percentage of any state in America."

The savings depositors of The First National Bank of Los Angeles and the Los Angeles Trust & Savings Bank are contributing an important part in the development of this State. The combined savings deposits of these two institutions—accumulations of people in twenty-four cities—are a financial power that is an indispensable factor in the development of that industrially and financially unified portion of the Pacific-Southwest lying in California from Fresno south.

Truths in Epigram

If it is not seemly, do it not; if it is not true, speak it not.— Aurelkus (121-180).

Find time still to be learning somewhat good, and give up being desultory.— Antonius (121-120 A. D.).

THE GOLDEN AGE

The golden age is a mythical era, born of the imagination, cherished in tradition, and nurtured by the pessimist. It is any age to which the venerable look back with regret. Memory, faulty at best, turns the past into an ideal. When the particular point of the past that is being viewed with regret, and compared to the present with moans and sighs, was itself fresh and new, then as now, there were those who turned sad eyes to the days of youth, and sorrowed for the "good old times."

Today is the best period that has dawned upon the world. There may be a brighter tomorrow, but today is an improvement on yesterday. Habits are hard to break. It is possible that the individual inured to certain conditions is discomforted when the conditions change. Reliance on the stage coach is with reluctance changed to confidence in the Pullman car, yet the car is superior.

The world, were it to be deprived of the facilities for travel, communication, power, heat, light, that have been made, available within three decades, would seem to have seen set back a thousand years. Its activities would be paralyzed, its methods subjected to absolute change. It would be bewildered, helpless. It would be as the world was in the "good old times." Even the grumbler of the moment would not like the change. He would find that his grumbling had but the evidence of a lack of appreciation.

On the moral side, it is affirmed with regularity and emphasis that the rising generation is less worty and more frivolous. In these averments is nothing about which to be alarmed. They paraphrase with surprising exactitude the sentiments expressed alike in father's span of youth, and grandfather's, and so on indefinitely.

LIFE ON MARS

Scientists continue to discuss the possibility of life on the planets, particularly the planet Mars. Of course the layman holds aloof, willing to learn of the wise. He does not profess to know anything about the matter. Contemplating it in a broad way, the thought strikes him that unless the bodies in the heavens sustain some sort of life, a life capable of progress and development, there has been a measureless waste of material. He wonders why the earth, a speck of dust, "a mote dancing on a sunbeam" should have been the subject of unique distinction. The old theory that this globe is the center of the universe has passed out. It is an atom in a large scheme, contributing a moiety perhaps to the music of the spheres, but a minor figure in the orchestra.

The laymen also thinks that the scientific discussion is purely academic in that it assumes that life elsewhere must be similar to the life with which scientists are familiar. It does not seem improbable that there are forms of life flourishing elsewhere that in the mundane environment would be instantly extinguished. The lusty Martian, making a visit, might find conditions here fatal. On the other hand the earthling projected to Mars might die of the atmosphere rather than the impact.

A man frozen into a cake of ice would not survive. There are organisms that flourish in ice. Evolution shows that life had advanced according to the conditions. As man is, his necessities demand a ration of oxygen. There may be a type corresponding to man, that would wither and vanish in the presence of oxygen.

These speculations are nothing serious. They are not put forth as in any sense serious. But they seem to have as substantial a basis as many of the conjectures credited to the savants who take their telescopes and poke 'round among the stars.

THE PERNICIOUS IN LETTERS

The chaplain of San Quentin has been dismissed on charges of "deceit and subterfuge." The specific allegation is that he caused to be smuggled out of the prison the manuscript of a book by a monstrous pervert, slayer of many wives. The chaplain is understood to affirm that he is not guilty. It hardly is to be supposed that the occupant of a position requiring moral impeccability, could have connived at providing so obnoxious an addition to letters. There is no reason why a convict of the lowest type should be given the privilege of exploiting his own career, lying about it, condoning it. Such a work could have no value. If it exerted influence, the influence all must be be for evil. The making of bad books is too common now. So far as assassins are concerned, the industry may be checked by methods wholly constitutional.

There is accessible to the reader literature of every grade. An abundance of fiction possesses passing interest, does no special harm, and adds nothing to the furnishings of the mind. There are novels so vivid and strong that they are highly educational. They impart a knowledge of human life that never would have been acquired through actual contact of the untrained intelligence, with life itself. Thus they have a distinct value.

If the desire is for reading that, while based on science, is in terms familiar to the ordinary citizen, understandable, fascinating, instructive, there is plenty to be had. Such volumes as Slossen's "Creative Chemistry" or Robinson's "The Mind in the Making" not only hold the attention to the end, but this is not the least they do. They leave the perceptions of the reader enlarged, the world about him pregnant with truths that for the first time he realizes. Over the whole field of his vision there has been spread a new light. He is stimulated to do independent thinking. He is uplifted by the realization that to the scholar there are vistas hidden from the gaze of the mentally slothful. He is a better man because he has been enabled to appreciate the greatness and the beauty, the symmetry, the harmony of the universe.

Why waste time in the reading of trash? Why add to the stock of pernicious and futile books?

THE VIRULENT VOLIVA

Voliva gets into print so often as to occasion some interest as to the personality of so extraordinary an ignoramus and bully. Not long ago he achieved a certain notoriety by acclaiming his belief in the flatness of the earth. He insists that such shall be the teaching of the schools in the crank community over which he presides. He dictates the dress and general conduct of his subjects, who by not resenting his impertinence, show that something is wrong with them as well as with their master.

For some reason Voliva entertains the notion that no other sect has a right to be represented in Zion City. He wants the fact understood that he is the big theological noise in that place. Lately he caused the arrest of a Methodist minister whose only offense was in being a Methodist minister, and admitting it.

It is a singular circumstance that Voliva, constantly guilty of outrages, should be able to get away with it. Somebody semes to have abolished the penal code in that benighted section, or the usual methods of determining lunacy, and retiring the lunatic, have gone out of fashion.

Of course, what Voliva needs, first of all, is common sense. In manners also he is lacking greatly. As a teacher he is a menace to the young, but as a leader, blind and leading the blind, he seems to have wonderful luck in missing the ditch.

BEAUTY AS IT GROWS

There has been a beauty contest leading to the remarkable result of selecting as the prize-winner, a young woman who does not use any form of cosmetics. This is her statement, and to doubt the word of a lady of such charm would not only be ungallant, but obnoxious to the instincts of a gentleman. What the ladies who competed and got honorable mention, say about the matter is different, and here may be regarded as irrelevant.

The use of cosmetics has become so general that to feminine flapperdom, at least, the thought that comeliness could be attained in their absence, probably never occurs. Part of this, it is likely, may be attributed to the stage. The stage beauty does not bear close inspection when ni full war paint. Soul-stirring as seen across the footlights, the intimate view that the hero of the play has to take as he kisses her, must present the aspect of a badly executed chromo. The film star simply has to daub the stuff on. She makes a fright of the substance to lend pulchritude to the shadow.

Too many girls get the idea that in private life they must ape th estars of stage and screen, forgetting the difference in conditions and that the artifice of the professions is legitimate and necessary, pleasantly deceptive of the senses, but for street and social purposes, painfully apparent. Objection to a touch of color, where it is needed, and where nature forgot to provide it, could not be deemed reasonable. Subduing the glare of a too radiant nose is not an offense, but may be regarded as a benefaction.

The girl who is so constituted as to need none of the cosmetical aids, having snatched her beauty ready-made and complete, is indeed lucky. Her example will not be followed. Aspirants will endeavor by deft touches to paint themselves into a resemblance.

What Would You Do

By DR. FRANK CRANE

I have received an interesting letter from a man in a western state. Read it and put yourself in this man's place. If you do, it will give you a personal angle on the question of labor unions that may do more to clear up your thinking than any theoretical discussoin.

DR. FRANK CRANE

"I'm coming to you for advice and although this is imposing upon you I must do it.

"I'm at the present time employed as a railway fireman for the ——— railroad. I also belong to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen. Now, a short time ago I was reprimanded by members of our brotherhood for doing something that I was not required to do, and, by the way, this was before the strike came on. I will try to make this clear.

"My work requires the handling of locomotives or at least did at that time. Now, at times when I wasn't busy I did other work; that is, work that wasn't required of me. This, I was told, is in violation of union rules. I was given to understand that I had done an unmanly thing, but I was taking another man's job, etc. Now, the point is, I had no bad intentions, but was acting upon an impulse; that is, I felt that it was my right and even duty to help at other work if I wanted to. But I can't do this and belong to a union, as I was told that I would either have to cease doing this or face expulsion. I have adjusted myself to these demands. Was that the right thing for me to do?

"Now, here's another question. I don't believe in this railroad strike or any other strike, and I have done my work only and have tried to obey the rules of our union. But a short time ago I helped a negro do a little work, who, by the way, is a strikebreaker. I know I had no business doing it, but again I acted upon an impulse. I was seen doing it and was again told to quit it or face expulsion from the union.

"Now my questions are as follows: Can I still be a man and disobey an impulse? Should I regulate myself to the union? And if our union goes out on strike, should I still be loyal to it even though I believe it is acting wrong? Can I donate to a strikers' fund when my conscience tells me not to?

"Probably you will be good enough to answer these for me and please tell me what you'd do in this case. I like to be a union man, but I want to do the right thing; that is, I want to be a real man even though I am called and looked upon as everything but one.

"Thanking you ever so much, I am yours truly."

Speaking for myself, I should say that I have no choice in tyrannies. To me one smells as bad as another. I think I should dislike being kicked around by a labor boss who would not allow me to help a fellow laborer quite as much as I should dislike being kicked around by a purse-proud capitalist.

So long as there is so much untilled land in these United States where an honest man can make a living and stay free, I think I would, if I were a young man, go out west and raise my own hog and hominy before I surrendered all my personal liberty to any sort of an autocrat.

LISTENING POST

Another Grand Army is assembling through the United States.

A Grand Army of young people.

Assembling in the school houses of the land.

For training for the battle of the future.

* * *

Everywhere they come.

In ten thousand cities little and big.

In hamlets without number.

In country and town.

At cross-roads and in vales and on hilltops.

All marching forth to school.

* * *

And it is an army officered by hundreds of thousands of general and colonels and captains and lieutenants of pedagogy.

Seeking to build it up into an organization for conquest.

The conquest of evil with good.

The conquest of failure with success.

The conquest of darkness with light.

The conquest of hatred with love.

* * *

For with right education we shall have peace, labor, comfort ,happiness.

Without it we shall have warfare, misery, disease, unhappiness and darkness.

* * *

So the training of this Grand Army is the biggest work we have to do.

Both stuffling it with facts and figures and theories alone.

But making its body healthy and its spirit strong and its vision clear and its will firm.

That is the purpose of education.

The facts of knowledge are in schoolbooks.

The spirit that shall make use of knowledge lies dormant in the individual.

To be awakened and made glorious with purpose and desire.

* * *

So if you listen you will hear in your mind the tramp, tramp, tramp of this mighty army.

Might for good or for evil.

You will hear laughter and the sounds of joyous play.

You will hear lecture and recitation and the thumbing of books.

* * *

And if you have imagination you will know that the future is being determined by the nature of the instruction received by this army.

By its idealism glorified.

By its will make firm.

By its purpose strengthened and clarified.

* * *

In right understanding.

Whether it be a matter of health or finance or social justice or agriculture or manufacture or of any activity of human society, right education will insure the perpetuity of liberty, justice, happiness.

* * *

Ignorance is the everlasting foe of progress.

Ignorance, which included bigotry, intolerance, tyranny, the misuse of power, trafficking with dishonor.

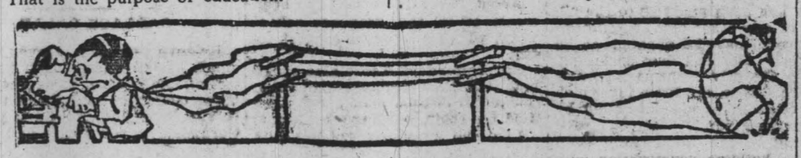
For with knowledge and spirit and courage no nation shall fail of its destiny.

JAMES W. FOLEY.



SONGS OF THE POETS

The Bargain—By Sir Philip Sidney (1554-1586)

My true love hath my heart, and I have his.
By just exchange one for another given;
I hold his dear, and mine he cannot miss,
There never was a better bargain driven:
My true love hath my heart, and I have his.

His heart in me keeps him and me in one,
My heart in him his thoughts and senses guides;
He loves my heart, for once it was his own,
I cherish his because in me it bides:
My true love hath my heart, and I have his.

Mysterious Forces Attack Comets

Long and delicate comet tails sweeping through the planetary saces are sometimes disturbed and broken by some force still mysterious to astronomers, Prof. E. E. Barnard of Yerkes Observatory revealed at the meteing of the American Astronomical society in Williams Bay, Wis.

Besides showing that the comet itself has much control over the direction of the tail and streamers, photography, that reveals what the eye can not see has shown that unknown influences opposed to the theory of gravitation seem to be at work in the space immediately about our sun.

"This is highly suggestive and may lead to discoveries of very great importance concerning certain conditions within the solar system," declares Professor Barnard.

"It is well known that a comet's tail always points approximately away from the sun," explains Professor Barnard, and that its form is determined by the speed with which the small particles forming it leave the head, going outward from the sun by the pressure of the sun's light. We may therefore have, if the particles are moving very fast, relative to the speed of the comet in its orbit, a very straight tail pointing directly away from the sun. If the speed of the particles is relatively slow, then the motion of the comet in its orbit, combined with the motion of the particles, will cause the tail to be curved away from the direction of motion. These features of a comet's tail are easily understood from our knowledge of the motion of a comet and the repellant action of the sun's light, so that we may have a straight tail if the particles are moving very rast away from the sun or a violently curved one if their motion is slow. But the curvature, if there is any, must invariably be away from the direction of motion.

Photographs have sometimes shown a curvature in a contrary direction to this and that the tail has been thrown forward at a large angle, sometimes suddenly, faster than the comet itself which is nearer the sun. This is opposed to the theory of gravitation and must be due to some cause which is independent of the sun and comet. Within 24 hours it may recover its natural position."

Professor Barnard explains that by far the most interesting comets have not been visible to the naked eye. The smaller and more active comets are studied on the photographic plate. Some of the very large and best known comets, as Halley's comet of 1910 and others have not shown any unusual phenomena.

"Sometimes a comet will reject its tail, always sending out a new one in a slightly different direction, which, like the smoke from a locomotive, will drift away and dissipate in space," he says. "Sometimes a comet will cease to hold its particles together and will itself melt away in space and cease forever to be a comet. These are called 'lost comets'. Beila's is the best known of the lost comets. It has resolved itself into a great swarm of meteors that sometimes are encountered by the earth and burned up in our atmosphere. These displays are called meteoric showers. A comet may sometimes separate into two or more bodies and later disappear altogether from the heavens."

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

"NO MORE WAR" PROPAGANDA

(Andover Townsman)

The writer believes that about the stupidest movement of many a day is this "no more war" propaganda, but it isn't nearly as stupid as it is subtle in its real purpose to use some excellent people for the promotion of a more or less discredited group of individuals who need some free publicity.

Andover has fallen for this bunk and in falling, some over-zealous people have done what is usually done in such cases, gone too far in their efforts . Their posting of signs even included war memorials for backgrounds in the shape of the two cannon in front of the Memorial hall. That they were torn down by one who objected seems to the writer to be a most natural thing, and we are mighty glad he did it. If they are put there again, we hope he will rip them down, and if he needs somebody to pay his fine the bank has this writing for authority to charge it to the writer's account. We say good for the man with nerve to act, when action seems necessary.

Now just a word about "no more war." Of course we all wish for no more war, but woe to the nation that construes these words, in this day and generation into "no more preparedness for war."

PROGRESS IN ARMY ABOLITION

(Brooklyn Standard Union)

The Army is making earnest efforts to get young men to accept commissions as second lieutenants. West Point has not produced nearly enough, hundreds more are needed and special inducements are being offered to attract them. Notice was sent out that examinations were to be held soon to select qualified applicants. Apparently few applicants came forward, for the examinations have been postponed, and now announcement has been made that graduation from education institutions of a certain rank will be accepted in lieu of examination.

It is certainly too bad if the war department cannot get second lieutenants. But is it surprising? Nobody would want to be a second lieutenant all his life. And at the same time that this urgent call is sent out for subalterns, discharges are being handed out wholesale to hundreds of higher officers who reach their present rank by hard study and application and years of faithful service.

Of course this is not the fault of the war department nor of any army officer. Congress cut down the appropriation and passed a law reducing the personnel. The officers unprovided for by congress must go.

At the time this legislation was enacted there was a widespread feeling that the way to protest this country from the dangers of foreign war was to abolish he army and the navy altogether. So the scrapping and the chucking out began.

We must be getting safer and safer every minute. If this keeps on till we have discharged every officer above the grade of second lieutenant, and are unable to get any second lieutenants, surely all our foreign foes will curl up and die of chagrin and we shall be forever safe from the horrors of war.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

A man of 80 with his wife of 75, have been telling the court a pitiful story of having been swindled out of all their money. They had a few hundred dollars saved. Suave bunko men took it away from them. The pair were told how the investment would surround them with comfort. There was no investment. There was simply a transfer of money cut from honest fork to dishonest.

HENRY JAMES

Probably the money has been expended. Perhaps sending the rogues to prison would be a protection to other poor old couples having nothing but their savings, but it would do the victims no good. What they want is the wherewithal to provide food and shelter.

There should be a new form of penalty to fit such cases. The swindlers should be obligated to pay back every cent. Let them be put to work, under guard, and let all that they earn be turned over to the support of their victims until the debt has been wiped out with interest.

This would have a doubly beneficial effect. It would keep the old folk, and it would perhaps teach the swindlers the value of toiling. As they sweated over their tasks, at least they would be inhibited frdm plying their detestabl vocations.

As a rule when rogues of this type operate, there is nothing done about it. They get the cash, and the incident is closed, sometimes with th sequed of the dupes going to the poorhouse.

It is almost inevitable that the defense in a criminal trial should ask for delay. In most cases the request is without merit. If there is hope on the part of the prisoner of a vindication, to delay the process of acquiring it, would not seem a reasonable course.

A practical test is made in an instance in which the accused has dismissed her lawyers, declined to provide others, and asks that the trial be postponed because of lack of preparation.

Every city at some period of its career discusses the wisdom of buying the car lines. Some have yielded to the impulse, the general effect being that of regret.

Just now Los Angeles is having its turn at the familiar debate. The arguments adduced on both sides are unanswearable, so the irresistible force and the immovable body are more observed to be in juxtaposition.

A preacher somewhere in Oregon recently declared that to many people were getting their ideas from Hollywood and not from heaven. He was making a plea for censorship.

If anything needs censorship it is a sermon that babbles nonsense. Such ideals as may come from Hollywood relate to styles. It is as good a source as Paris for styles.

The strongest advocates of censorship for the movies would censor every human activity save their own. They want to do the thinking for all mankind, and they never have learned to think even in the small way that would impel them to attend to their own affairs.

The son of a rich man back east desired to marry a poor girl. His folks obpected but the marriage took place just the same. Now the wife is earning money as a model in a cloak establishment, and using it to send her husband to college. Perhaps he will be grateful. If he is a decent chap, and worthy of her, he will.

There always is a grave chance when a rich young chap seeks to marry a poor girl, that she is far too good for him. When the parents butt in and break it up, they think they are protecting their offspring, whereas the benefit is far more likely to accrue to the girl.

The Encyclopedia Britannica has not given Ex-Secretary of Baker a fair deal. It condemns him as having been a pacifist, and as having delayed the conduct of the war.

Baker was inclined to be a pacifist early in the trouble. When the country entered the war, and he was executive head of the army, he ceased, quite markedly, to be a pacifist. On the contrary he did all that was in his power to place an effective force in France.

General Pershng is indignant at the slam from the English publication. He comes to the defense of his old chief in no uncertain terms, and he has the advantage of knowing what he is talking about.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

It's a funny thing about mothers. They are necessary to keep the race going, I'll admit. But if I had my way I would take the man-children away shortly after they were weaned. I would make just one exception to this rule.

"Any mother who has raised four boys," I would order, "has the right to keep them with her. For she has learned how."

I know perfectly well that this doesn't work out. If a mother were not permitted to keep a son by her until she had reared four—well, she never could have any in the house. Anyway, no one has asked me to take charge of this phase of humanity's labors and cares. But I insist that the average one-boy mother is not merely a danger to the boy, but is an infernal nuisance to the community.

"I took my boy away from his ma when he was ten years old," said Doc Whittaker, "and kept him away. She was ruining him."

"All mothers like to hold their boys on their laps and make them wear velvet knee breeches and long curls and put up a serious imitation of Little Elsie, the Girl Wonder. The dickens of it is that the boys cannot protect themselves. They are not big enough to kick their mothers on the shins, ano if they did brutal fathers would larrup them. They are made to stay in the house and talk low and sweet and refuse to fight with bad little boys, and if they do fight—win or lose—the mammas hold them on their laps and gulp and weep until the poor little devils feel guilty as the dickens.

"Promise me—wow, wow, wow—that you'll never fight again. For you're breaking mamma's heart!"

But the mother who has raised four little warriors does not worry. The only thing she asks is that they do not bleed on the newly scrubbed front steps. And they cannot keep the dog in the house.

And did you ever notice what dandy little kids those are that are raised four in a litter?

DO YOU KNOW THAT—?

"It Suits to a T"

MECHANICS and draughtsmen, when great exactness and uniformity are necessary in making angles and obtaining perpendiculars on paper or wood, use an instrument called a "T-square" or "T-rule." This tool has the shape of the letter "T," whence it gets its name.

To say that "It suits to a T" means that the thing of which you speak is as exactly right in every shape and form as a piece of workmanship would be after having been proven by the T-square.

Some people believe that the phrase was taken from the fact that as the word "suit" ends with "t," 'suits to a t" means it suits completely and absolutely. This version has little to commend it to serious consideration.

CAN THESE MEN SAVE IRELAND?

George Gavan Duffy, foreign minister in Michael Collins' cabinet; Richard J. Mulcahy, romantic boy defense minister, and William T. Cosgrave, home minister, have been selected as a triumvirate to attempt to save Ireland, following Collins' assassination. It is believed Duffy will shape the political policies, Mulcahy the military policies and Cosgrave the administrative policies of the Irish Free State. General Owen Duffy, commander of the southwestern division and principal aide to General Richard Mulcahy, it is thought, will be selected to succeed Collins as commander-in-chief of the Free State army.

SEVENTY TO TRY FOR HI GRIDIRON

Veterans of Last Year's Team Are Back for Fall Games

Although high school has been opened only one day, Coach Hayhurst states that approximately 70 boys have signed up for football and more are expected in the next few days. All seem to be extremely interested and full of pep, which is essential toward winning.

Those boys who won their "G" last year have signed up again this year are Fred Stofft, captain of the team; Clifford Clouse, Russell Eiffler, Ronald West, Gordon Bartow, Stillman Chase and Richard Ryan. Several boys who attended Glendale high last year, but have never played football, have signed up. They are Harold Majors, Jack Huntington, Leslie LaValle, Alton Marshall and Perry Ross.

New boys who have played football on other school teams are Joe Maurer from Wilmington high high school; Homer Smith from a Los Angeles military acamemy; Hersbel Boucher from Calexico, and Cyril Walton from Redondo.

A good number of the lightweight men will be back again this year. Those who have signed up are Richard Kelsey, Evart Smits, Neil Schuler, Marshall Wilson, W. Roberts, Neil McIver, Arden Gingery, Laughton Jeter, Robert Burns, M. Horil, Fred Peck and Dante LaFrancki who comes from San Jose.

ITALIAN POTTERY

NATIONAL J. O. C. CONVENTION TO MEET HERE

Local Class Holds Conference to Prepare for Reception of Delegates

Plans for the national J. O. C. convention to be held in Glendale, October 21 and 22, were discussed Tuesday night at the regular meeting of the J. O. C. class of the First Methodist church, Glendale, held in the church parlors.

Mrs. C. M. Crist is teacher of the class, and had the meeting in charge. There were about 70 members present. Mrs. Crist states that her class is one of the largest, if not the largest, in Southern California, having 155 members. Her class is to entertain the national convention when they come to Glendale on Saturday and Sunday, October 21 and 22.

During the evening, the following officers were elected: Mrs. Lydia Rehberg, president; Mrs. Maude Cunningham, first vice president; Mrs. Kate Stahl and Mrs. Ada St. Clair, third vice presidents; Mrs. D. Clint, recording secretary; Mrs. Nellie Whitney, class reporter; Mrs. Stella Miller, secretary; Mrs. Ella Taylor, treasurer.

Preparations were also made for a cooked food sale to be held one week from Saturday, September 23, the place to be announced later.

Following this, delicious refreshments of ice cream and plenty of homemade cake were served. The committee in charge included Mrs. Lydia Rehberg, Mrs. C. R. Lusby, Mrs. Marie Gifford, Mrs. Pierson Hanning, Mrs. A. B. Woodside and Mrs. L. E. Starkey.

NOTED LYCEUM ENTERTAINERS ENGAGED TO GIVE CONCERTS IN BURBANK DURING COMING SEASON

Secretary Colburn of Local Chamber of Commerce Arranges With Bureau for Appearances of Nationally Known Artists

FIVE FINE CONCERTS AT GRAMMAR SCHOOL

Mary Hollingsworth Oct. 13, Chicago Concert Duo Nov. 14, Metropolitan Trio Dec. 18, Mozart Orchestra Jan. 22, F. L. Hanscom Feb. 20

Nationally known lyceum artists will entertain in a series of events to be given in Burbank this season by the Midland Lyceum Bureau, arrangements having been made by Secretary Colburn of the chamber of commerce.

The contract for the appearance of the entertainers was signed by Secretary Colburn, the profits of the concerts to go to the local chamber of commerce. There will be a series of five concerts starting October 13 at the grammar school auditorium.

The Midland Lyceum Bureau, with headquarters in Los Angeles, made a special effort to secure the best of talent for the lyceum tour in Southern California, Burbank being very fortunate in booking the entertainments.

Sponsored and approved by the chamber of commerce, it is expected that the entertainments will be well patronized. While the entertainments will be the very best, the admission prices will be reasonable.

Mary Hollingsworth will open the season October 13, and F. L. Hanscom will close the season Feruary 20, 1923.

The dates were arranged by the bureau and approved by Secretary Colburn. The list follows:

CAPITAL STOCK TAX DECISION

Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell yesterday received from the treasury department the syllabus of an important decision of the supreme court involving construction of the capital stock tax section of the revenue act.

"The court holds that the capital stock is not a property tax, but is an excise tax imposed upon the privilege of doing business in corporate form, as a going concern and the value of the privilege is the obvious way to measure the tax.

"The words, 'Capital Stock,' as employed in the revenue act of 1916, is construed by the court to indicate an appraisal of the value of the capital stock arrived at by considering various factors of value, by the exercise of judgment, rather than an auditor's exact determination of the value of the not worth of tangible assets.

"Regarding consideration of surplus and undivided profits the court contends that in estimating capital stock value the computation must not be restricted to the par value of the capital stock plus surplus and undivided profits, but that while those two factors must be considered, other factors equally as important must not be eliminated.

"In laying down rules for the computation of value of capital stock the court holds there should be considered in addition to the net worth of the corporate assets as shown by the books, the franchises, outstanding contracts, good will, earning capacity of the corporation and the market value of its stock over the preceeding year.

"It is contended that if these entangibles were eliminated as factors of value the appraisal would indicate an exact value rather than a fair value of the capital stock as of the end of the fiscal year, and not the 'fair average value for the preceeding year, as provided by the revenue act."

'GILDED CAGE' AND VAUDEVILLE AT T. D. & L.

A Good Comedy Satire Sketch to Be Seen in Specialties

Miss Swanson has one of the most striking roles of her career—a poor girl, who through the agency of the press and an able publicity agent, is forced into a position of prominence on the stage, with attendant sensational features. "The Gilded Cage" is now showing at the T. D. & L. theatre.

In addition to the feature there is staged the comedy satire sketch, "Poor Old Dad," enacted by Dona Vickroy, Eugene weher and David Lindsay. "Poor Old Dad" was written by Walter Montague, Writer for the Saturday Evening Post.

GLENDALE'S OWN FURRIER HAS FINE RECORD

Concentrates Experience of Many Years on Own Shop Here

S. J. Mills, the new fine furrier of 133 South Brand boulevard, has been in the business for almost 35 years, the first twenty in business for himself in Illinois, and spending the latter part as foreman and designer with Colburn's, oldest of the fur establishments in Los Angeles. Inadvertently, it was stated in Monday's paper that Mr. Myers was connected with the Mills shop, but this is incorrect, for Mr. Mills is alone in the enterprise and will have personal charge of all orders.

Mr. Mills has naturally gleaned, in addition to a remarkable amount of experience, a number of interesting happenings during his long years of association with the fur business.

He was at one time the executor and designer of the most expensive fur garment sold on the coast up to that time. This remarkable order was for a Russian sable coat and the price tag was marked $14,000. Mr. Mills was solely responsible for this work.

His Glendale house will carry a complete line of goods, and he will do all types of work on furs, including order work, remodeling, repairing, cleaning, as well as offering made-up garments.

When Milady chooses her fall furs, her wardrobe will not be complete without one of those smart chokers of stone or baum marten, or of mink. Of course she will need a larger fur piece also, and she may choose between black and sabled foxes, and the popular platinum fox, and it is very likely that she will come out of the shop with one of these genuine Arctic skins as her purchase. All of these furs are being featured by Mr. Mills.

As for wraps, even in California a lady is very, very cold after she has seen some of the fetching sports coats and snuggled one of the luxurious capes around her.

Mr. Mills offers a colored wall display of these styles, which come direct from one of those dictators in the east, whose word is law in the fashionable world. He also subscribes to a number of weekly and monthly sheets, thus constantly keeping his hand on the flickering pulse of fashion.

Mr. Mills also carries leather coats and specialties. So, no matter what the feminine shopper desires in the way of furs, her wish will be gratified here, even if it be for a cushion of fur, so much the rage in Paris just now, and shown by him. They are made of hemster, and are decidedly unique.

THE PENDULUM

The pendulum swings to and fro,
Swings low and high and high and low,
The passing moment comes, is gone,
And all the hosts of Time move on.
Now comes the bridal wreath, the pall,
And nations rise and nations fall,
And kings are serfs and serfs are kings,
While ever to and fro it swings.

Now is a laugh and now a sob,
And all the countless millions throb
And go their ways and come and pass
Like sands that filter in the glass;
And other millions breathe and come
While ever swings the pendulum,
With rhythmic cadence to and fro,
Swings low and high and high and low.

And Grief says: "Haste! Make haste I pray!
For Gladness went with yesterday,
And we would follow her, nor wait
The years until the opened gate!"
And Joy says: "Tarry! Tarry yet,
For all the flowers with dew are yet,
And we would linger, that the day
Of Happiness might last alway!"

But Time has neither eyes to see
Nor ears to hear, but ceaselessly
The pendulum swings to and fro,
Now low and high and high and low.
And Joy and Grief and all must pass
Before it like the withered grass
Before the fire, and new days come
While ever swings the pendulum.

Yes, ever swings the pendulum,
And Youth will pass and Age will come,
And Age will die and Youth be born,
And smiles will flash and hearts be torn;
So, Love, a kiss, and, Friend, your hand,
Where on the way of life we stand
And greet and go as we have come,
While ever swings the pendulum.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Once aboard an American liner, should a passenger automatically become non-refillable?

* * *

Should a trip aboard under United States auspices be a guarantee that a person can go six days without drinking?

These are questions now agitating the country as a result of the exposure by one of the Busch boys that liquor is being sold aboard Shipping Board vessels.

* * *

Unwilling to be accused of beating around the Busch, the Shipping Board admits it, insists there is no violation of the prohibition law to satisfy tourists' throats outside the three-mile limit, and declares that American ships competing with foreign-owned lines must sell liquor or sail without passengers.

* * *

* * *

A passenger taking a drink off the African coast violates the American prohibition act if he is on an American ship at the time, according to the prohibitionists.

* * *

By the same process of reasoning a man on horseback drinking out of a flask in Egypt is a lawbreaker if it's an American horse! Very intricate, what?

* * *

Meanwhile, however, American liners are sailing with what might be called decided wine-lists to starboard. And with all the thirst-cabins filled.

* * *

What the Ships Say

"Somewhere off the Azores—Ship encountering much heavy weather; very wet voyage; shipping much water, but not enough to hurt the whisky; strong yeasterly winds now prevailing; vessel is rolling badly and so are the passengers; unable to get bearings, due to combination of fog and Scotch highballs; doing best to maintain souse by souse-west courses; a good time is being had by all.

"S. S. DEMIJOHN."

"Longitude uncertain, latitude very intricate; Beg to report serious battle between passengers and crew this morning. Passengers tried to take down the ship's ensign and hoist a bar-towel instead. Crew tried to stop them. Fight still in progress. Ship now proceeding at about 24 quarts per hour.

"S. S. CARAFFE."

"Off the Canary Islands: Hit bar at eight bells. Great panic followed. Passengers rushed for the life boats, but we had to drive them back so we could rescue the bottled goods first. Ladies very indignant. Well known drinker rushed from ship's saloon crying 'Women and children thirst!' but we ignored him.

"After removing all case goods safely we gave passengers the signal to board lifeboats. First boat they rushed, however, was full of broken bottles and many were badly cut. Removed all but four male passengers and abandoned ship. Offered to take them off, but they had found a case of Scotch still aboard and decided to go down with the ship.

"S. S. PHOSPHATE."

"Latitude, $3,08; longitude, awful. Disregard call for help sent earlier today. Cause of violent trembling that shook ship from stem to stern last night has been ascertained. Bartenders were teaching new crew how to shake cocktails.

"S. S. LEMONDADEO."

"BUN VOYAGE!"

By PHIL FELTON
Parkside Refreshment Stand, Verdugo road

I've rambled around quite a bit in my time,
I have sampled most every country and clime,
Most of the world's big cities I've done,
But up to date I haven't found one
That appeals to me like Glendale.

I remember you in your cradle days—
Just a wee, small speck on the map;
I know you today in a hundred ways,
With thousands of cozy homes in your lap—
Progressive city of Glendale.

For health, for wealth, for happiness,
And for everything worth while,
You sure are a piece of Fairyland,
Including the Glendale smile—
Beautiful city of Glendale.

So now, altogether boys, let her rip;
For the city we love so much, hip, hip, hip;
The crown jewel city of the west,
The city that's brightest and best,
The city that's forging ahead of the rest—
Our own fair city of Glendale.
Hip, hip, hip, hurrah!

THE TIME IS AT HAND
Invoking the Aid and Assistance of the Most High God and acting under instructions received from the Unseen Brotherhood,
THE LIVE FOREVER FOLK
have prayerfully launched on the Ethereal Sea of Spiritual and Material Endeavor
A WORLD-WIDE MOVEMENT
having for its unalterable End the definite objects incorporated in the following Platform of Principles:

1st—That the loftiest effort of Man is his incessant search for Truth in all its Manifestations.
2nd—That countless Human Beings are buried Spiritually, Mentally and Physically under an avalanche of financial worries and that before they can attain Spiritual Sight it will be necessary to remove from the life of the Individual all sense of Material Insecurity.
3rd—It is imperative that Error and Arrogance in High Places be met, and overthrown now and for All Time.
That the Divine Right of Kings is an insolent assumption that must be sternly denied.
That the Rule of the Despot and Tyrant must be uprooted and cast into the Limbo of Forgotten Things.
4th—That Political Freedom is the inherent right of the individual and that before it can be enjoyed, the Hydra-headed Viper of Sectarianism in Politics, as well Religion, must be annihilated.
5th—That the Ancient Master has stated "THE LAST ENEMY THAT SHALL BE DESTROYED IS DEATH." That physical and spiritual immortality can be attained by any human being if the proper environment and instructions are established.
6th—That the WORKERS in Mentalism, Sociology, Spiritualism, Religion, without reference to Sect or Creed, if collected together in undivided Effort, represent the Hope of the World, and can, if they WILL, lift Struggling Humanity out of the Bondage of Poverty and Ignorance.

Recognizing these Principles and Facts to be Basic, having at heart the Good of Humanity, conscious with the consciousness of Positive Knowledge that the Truth is Mighty and in its Sign we Conquer, the Live Forever Folk Association herewith puts forth the Clarion Call for Co-operation and asks for your Spiritual, Mental and Physical Assistance to this one Specific End—THE DISSEMINATION OF TRUTH—THE OVERCOMING OF DEATH—THE SPIRITUAL, SOCIAL, SOCIAL, RELIGIOUS, POLITICAL AND ECONOMIC FREEDOM OF MANKIND.

"I knew him when he was a boy"

What one is there of us that has not felt the glow of satisfaction over the outstanding success of a life-long friend! Often a surprise—seemingly "all of a sudden." Yet neither surprising nor sudden, when you stop to think back over each step of his progress.

THE United States Rubber Company—makers of U. S. Royal Cords—were first to conceive, make and announce the balanced tire. A tire in which there is such complete unity of action in tread and carcass that neither will give way before the other.

First to conceive, make and announce a complete line of tires—a tire for every need of price and use under one standard of quality.

First to tell the public about the good and bad in tire-retailing. (You remember the phrase "Go to a legitimate dealer and get a legitimate tire.")

First also to arouse industrial and trade minds to the need of a new kind of tire competition. (Competition for better and better values. Greater and greater public confidence.)

* * *

THESE high spots along the U. S. road to leadership indicate the intent—the will to win by the quality route in a price market.

Now that so many car-owners have given their verdict for quality tires in general, and U. S. Tires in particular—a number of dealers and car-owners whose vision has been clouded by "discounts," "sales" and what not, are beginning to remember that they "knew him when he was a boy."
